Adventist Church Plans Two Weekend Revival

Special revival services have been set for the next two weekends at the Appomattox Seventh-day Adventist Church. The guest speaker will be Pastor R. H. Brodersen, a former pastor of the church who now lives in Bridgewater, Virginia. Pastor Brodersen and his wife have had a varied experience in Christian service, including overseas mission work in India and Taiwan. During the years the Brodersens were in the Appomattox area, they were a real blessing to those who knew them.

The revival will begin on Friday, November 2, at 7:30 p.m. with the subject "Santanic Spectacular or Proof of God's Power?" Saturday, November 3, at 11:15 a.m. the topic will be "I give Up What? . . . Sorry Enough to Quit?" Then Saturday evening at 7:30 Brodersen will speak on "The Keys of the Kingdom."

The following weekend of November 9 & 10, the revival will conclude with three more timely messages presented at the same hours. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of the sessions.

Seeks Seat On Campbell County Board

Gerald W. Inge, an Independent candidate, is seeking a seat on the Campbell County Board of Supervisors, Concord District, in the November 6th election.

Inge, seeking the position vacated by William R. Moore who is not seeking reelection, was born and reared in the center of the Concord District.

"Self-control, hard work and prayer" are the tools Inge plans to use to effect the best possible harmony within Campbell County. He pledges "to work very closely with all industry now located within the county to inform them well and will try to interest new industry and small businesses to locate within the county," if elected.

Within his platform he will "keep the farmers informed on anything that may effect them in order to keep all our farmers in business and not force them to leave the farm to pay their bills." He has a deep interest in upgrading the county roads and repairing and replacing old and unsafe bridges while maintaining a balanced budget with no tax increase.
